Q27 - What were some of the biggest contributors to your success at Yuba College?

What were some of the biggest contributors to your success at Yuba College?

n/a

Great instructors like Dr. Robert Mathews, James Gilbreath, Joseph Stottmann, and Dr. Aya Ueda, who genuinely care about their students and go above and beyond to help them in their studies.

The writing center was a really nice way to learn more about writing. I also think EOPS was very helpful with my college degree. I also enjoyed all the professors I had.

The biggest contributors are support and help from every Professor, tutors and especially from EOPS programs. I am so thankful for all of my professors, writing center, success center and EOPS department. It was really good at yuba college. I am thankful for all the staffs member who always encouraged me and supported me throughout my Yuba College journey. It was such a great time in the writing and success center. I really enjoyed working with EOPS program as a peer mentor job. Thanks for giving such a positive and supportive environment.

Online flexibility

The Puente, the counseling department, financial aid, WLDC, and the CSC

The great teachers

Radiologic Technology Staff, mainly the director: Jackie Bumanglag

Counselor: Valerie Harris

Some of the biggest contributors to my success at Yuba College were the support of my family, being organized, and being on top of all my work.

For me with the EOPS program I felt accountable to someone to make sure that I was keeping on track, Lore is a great counselor and has helped with directing me in the right direction for my end goal.

Honestly I don't even remember joining the EOPS program or signing up for it. But it turns out to be one of my most important choices I did. They always alert me on what I need to do and I don't know without them I would be in the situation I would be in.

The supervisors of the dual-enrollment program.

Joseph Stottmann,
Aya Ueda,
Rebecca Nuño, James Gilbreath, Dante Barksdale

My family and friends. Especially my mom.

Very thoughtful and understanding teachers

Educators and counselors who care.

One of the biggest contributors to my success at Yuba College were my professors. All the professors I had were very understanding and it was not a challenge at all when I had to communicate to them about any questions I had about any of the assignments they had assigned. Another contributor was how easy it was to access everything. From the online eBook database (since all of the classes I had were online) to Canvas, everything was easily accessible.

The teachers in the science department were very good

Q28 - What were some of the biggest challenges you faced while completing your degree or certificate?

What were some of the biggest challenges you faced while completing your degree or certificate?

n/a

Online acting and music performance classes due to the pandemic were definitely a challenge. This was because these types of classes are all about performing in-person, so they did not translate well to an online environment. Another challenge was the fact that some Theatre classes were not offered when I needed them. For example, THART 12A is a required class, but it wasn't offered in the semester that I needed it, so I had to wait to take it.

The biggest challenges that I faced was in my writing class and my history class but with the help of writing center I made it through that classes. It been difficult for me in my writing classes because English is my second language. But I really thankful for Darla. She also encouraged me and supported me with every writing assignment and helped me succeed in those courses.

Lack of correct information from counseling

Taking over 16 units each semester

My own incompetence along with the system giving me the wrong degree for my first semester, and me not realizing until my third semester.

Change of staff during the program and COVID

The biggest challenge I faced while completing my degree was the COVID 19 pandemic. It was really challenging doing some of my classes over Zoom.

Well, the previous counselor had set me up for the wrong classes so I Had to end up taking a class I never needed and could have used that elsewhere, I am close to the 70-unit mark and wish that had not been used on an unnecessary class.

I guess one of the biggest challenge for me is that choosing the right future. I didn't really know where I want to transfer but I knew I wanted to transfer. I've talk with family members and the right choice is to go out in the world and explore opportunities.

It was a lot of work that was different than what I'm used to.

Working two jobs and going to school.
Family health issues.

My father's sudden death, the PTSD that followed, medication adjustments, my struggle with keeping up with readings and discussions.

Like many, COVID made it difficult to get through science courses without the direct instructions of a professor. Without the proper class structure it made it difficult to learn the material you were given.

Life

Time management

N/A

The biggest challenges I had faced were both pacing myself as well as procrastination. I had tried my best to pace myself and plan when to do notes and assignments however my tendency to procrastinate made that a big challenge.

The certificate I received I cared very little about and entry into the ADN program seems nigh unattainable

Dealing with the Counseling, Financial Aid, and Staff in the front office. The worst part about getting my degree at Yuba is your Student Services staff and the lack of help or understanding. The course work and Professors are great and made Yuba what it was not the staff.

Q30 - What advice would you give to new students at Yuba College?

What advice would you give to new students at Yuba College?

n/a

I would advise new students to spend time on their own studying the class catalog, the IGETC requirements, and the Yuba College graduation requirements, so that they can pick classes that interest them as well as satisfy their educational requirements. I'd also advise them to keep up with the homework for their classes, rather than skimping on homework and focusing on big tests and projects. The homework is where students can actually learn the class concepts, and completing homework will often make the biggest improvement in a student's grade.

I believe I would tell them to do your best and always be happy.

The advice I would give to new students is don't give up, study hard, get to know your professors and other resources at college that can help you succeed in your classes. Don't hesitate to ask for help, always ready to learn and respect your professors and other staff members.

Although it may seem intimidating you can do it! Be sure to utilize campus resources as well!

Community College is a great way to start and figure out what you want to do.

My advice to new students is be organized and prioritize homework. If you do that, college won't be as scary. Also, all the departments at Yuba College are very nice and helpful so don't be afraid to ask for help.

Be as involved as you can be, take all the extra credit opportunities you can. With hard sciences classes, anatomy and more, I would only take in person, having the hands-on training is key to learning even a little in these classes.

I've used some resources given to me from the College but not all. My advice would be use whatever resources you can and use it to your advantage.

Make sure to do the work.

Don't stop or take time off.

Don't be afraid to reach out to your professors and ask for help. If you have something big going on in your life, or multiple things, tell them! Be honest, they might surprise you with how understanding and accommodating they can be. Advocate for yourself. Some counselors, not all, will be pushing you to finish in 2 years, with a packed schedule. That doesn't work for everybody, especially if you have a disability, like me. Don't be afraid to take some fun classes to break up the stress of gen ed, and explore your creativity. Everyone has their own timeline, don't let others pressure you to change that.

DO YOUR WORK! Study regularly and do not expect going to class will be enough to pass a course. Many classes require you to study at least an hour every day to really know the material. Without that consistency you might find it harder to achieve the grade you want for a course.

Try your best and you shall succeed.

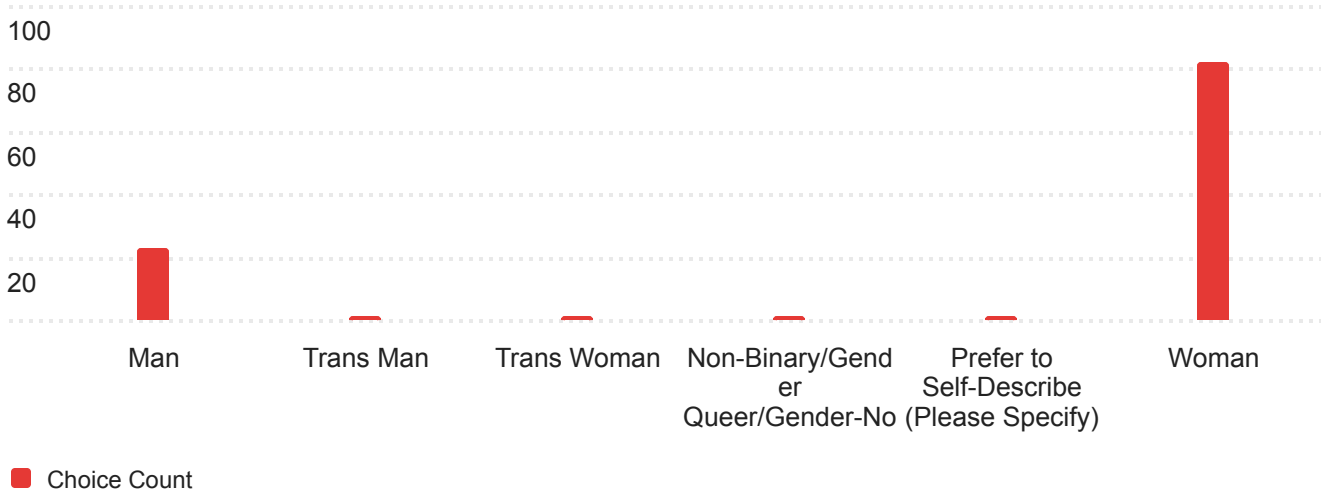

Make the time, do the work, ask for help, and never give up.

The advice I would give to new students is to always communicate with their professors whenever they encounter any type of question, roadblock or problem.

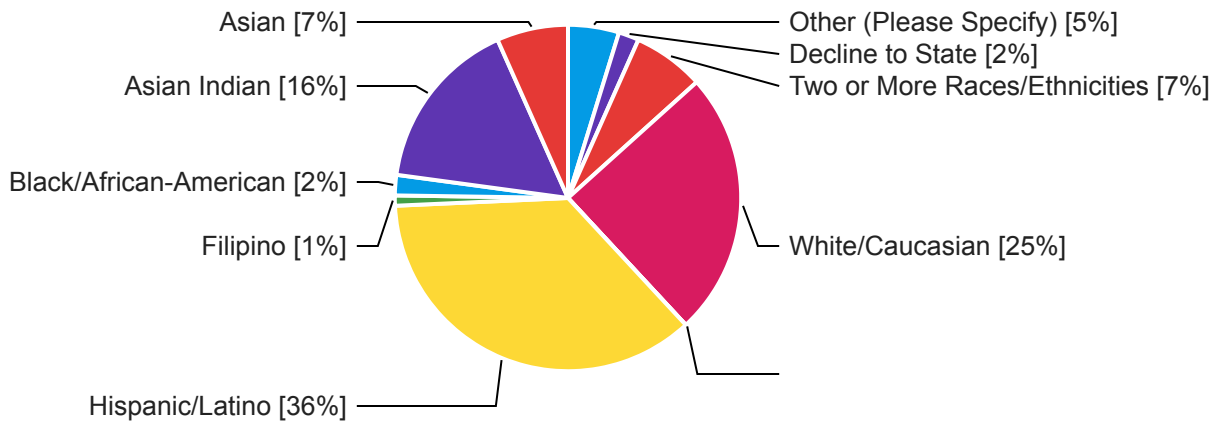

Do your assignments right away and don't overburden yourself

You are your biggest advocate.
